January31, 2023

Dear Skidmore Community,

Please be aware that the National Weather Service has issbled ardous Weather Outlook for the Saratoga Springs area for later this wealthe alert states, "There is the potential for dangerously cold wind chills Friday into Saturday due to a combination of bitterly cold temperatures and gusty winds." The low temperature on Friday is forecasted to be (F) and on Saturday the low 15'-(F). These temperatures do not include wind chillease review the following recommentations and information closely:

- x Community members should be aware all windows and doors should be shut completely from Thursday evening until MondayTemperatures in this range can cause frostbite to exposed skin, even if exposed for only a short petriof time.
- x Community members are strongly encouraged to wear hats, gloves, and face coverings when outdoors.
- x Individuals with animals on campus should make provisions for their animal.
- x Vehicles will require longer periods to warm Whehicles with underperforming batteries may not start at these low temperatures. Campus Safety can assist with jump starts.
- x Occasionally, sustained low temperatures can cause water main failures in the surrounding community.
- x Facilities Services staff will be on cause to address icy stairs and walkways, but please note that ice melting products are less effective at the very temperatures forecasted lease use caution when walking around campus

With the low temperatures arriving on t(th)5.11ivp/P 07 0 Td rro1 (g)5 f9 (m)-308v6u(th)5.3 e-d16.1 a.004 Tc