

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING: A REPORT ON THE COMMITTEE SYSTEM

Faculty Executive Committee

4/3/09

I. THE PROBLEM

A number of faculty in different venues have expressed concerns about how governance and service work at Skidmore. One of the main issues is that the Faculty Executive Committee routinely has difficulty getting faculty to serve on committees, including those central to the governance system.

Our understanding of these issues is informed by the following sources: FEC's survey on service, Susan Wa's scholarly research on faculty culture, meetings with Committee of Committees, IPPC, Academic Staff, the VP for Academic Affairs, several members of CAPT from recent years, email communications with the Dean of the Faculty, Department Chairs and Program Directors, and Chairs of all major committees, various conversations with individual faculty as well as our own observations and deliberations.

C. DEPARTMENT AND PROGRAM ACTIVITIES

Countless forms of service are ~~used~~ in departments and programs every day, some of which takes place in the context of formal committees, especially in large departments, and much of which does not, especially in small departments. This service includes work related to curriculum, ~~operational~~ strategic initiatives, advising, budgets, infrastructure, capstones, student ~~prizes~~ faculty development, admissions, alumni relations, and so on. This work surely relates to ~~two~~ items mentioned above we do not fully understand: the 119 faculty members who are not serving on an institutional committee and the numerous "Other Miscellaneous Committees", which are often invisible to colleagues not directly involved.
