Diversity Officer, and the IPPC on policies, practices, and protocols regarding diversity and inclusion, intercultural and global understanding, intercultural literacy, issues of campus climate, and other related matters. In addition, CIGU actively collaborates with various constituents and departments on campus to inform and educate the community and to encourage and support activities that further the College's diversity, inclusion, and equity goals.

In undertaking this work, CIGU is guided by a variety of College documents, such as Goal II Well-Being of the College's Strategic Plan, recommendations from the College's Middle States Review of 2016, President Glotzbach's 2007 essay titled Intercultural Literacy, and the committee's own reports

CIGU takes an institution-wide approach to its work, bridging the various divisions that are charged with or interested in the work of diversity, inclusion, and equity on a local, domestic, and/or global level. CIGU also serves as a resource for the College officials charged with coordinating and implementing the College's strategic efforts in these areas – namely, the Chief Diversity Officer, the Associate Dean of the Faculty, the Director of the Office of Student Diversity Programs, and the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity.

CIGU ensures that any College-wide policy matters related to its charge are referred to the IPPC for consideration. However, CIGU may create working groups or introduce campus initiatives and programs
