FUNDACIÓN AMIGOS DEL MUSEO DEL PRADO

where the future volunteers learn techniques to teach youth about human rights in schools in and around the Madrid area.

The courses, which are taught with a partner or at times alone, are based on the 30 universal human rights decided upon by the UN, but flesh out to explore subjects like discrimination, inequality, laws, justice, social movements, media, consumerism, environmental pollution, and others. The ultimate goal is to get students to question their previous knowledge, stereotypes, and their means of attaining information and help them become conscientious citizens.

After each group of sessions is over, interns fill in and hand in full evaluations of the students and the school that will be taken into consideration in the future by other human rights volunteers that might work in that school. After the teaching period is over, perhaps there will be work to be done in the Helsinki Spain offices that interns help with.

International events in Madrid (no credit):

Interns worked for a specific event that brought women from around the world to discuss issues surrounding women's rights. As a intern translated from English to Spanish for the international visitors during their stay in Spain.

Marketing:

The student intern works in the marketing/communications department and manage Google Adwords and Analytics accounts. Interns use these programs to create, edit, and track ads, in order to track performance and sites visi and to target more relevant donors to our cause. Interns also contribute translations from Spanish to English to the main website.

TIENDA SOLIDARIA. CASA ENCENDIDA

This internship focuses on fair trade and sustainability. It consists of two parts: working in a store that sells fair trade products, and doing research about fair trade at the office of the NGO,

In addition interns also helped supervise lunch break, and their field trips to plays, parks, or the zoo. They also conducted a play, and I helped with their rehearsals in English.

Fundación Balia is a Non-profit organization dealing with under privileged children ages 5-12. It is very similar to an after school care center. Volunteers give the children a snack, take them to the park, help them with their home academic work, including English grammar. We also can take apart time to do a lesson of my own, using songs, and handouts to teach them new vocabulary. Also, we do arts and crafts or some type of activity.

Working primarily in the higher leveled classes, (aging approximately between 1 years old and 2-3 years old, depending on the child's maturity), interns have had the opportunity to both learn from more experienced teachers and also the main teacher for
